SKIN MICROBIOME INSIGHTS

The skin microbiome trend is continuing to gain credibility, and resonate with consumers, as the scientific evidence continues to grow and new products hit the market. In this special edition, we’ll zone in on the ingredient suppliers, formulators and brands that are taking this to the next level and creating products that not only appeal to an increasingly knowledgeable consumer base, but also deliver what they claim.

INCOS ASIA PRE-SHOW

Ahead of the annual InCos-Asia exhibition in Bangkok, we’ll be shining the spotlight on the most innovative ingredients, the emerging trends and the latest expert insights that will be taking centre stage at the show, spanning the whole raft of beauty and personal care categories.

BEAUTY FROM WITHIN

While the likes of collagen and biotin are front and centre when it comes to many ‘nutricosmetic’ products, we are also seeing traction build around botanicals, antioxidants, probiotics and carotenoids, spanning green tea, astaxanthin, resveratrol and tomato extracts just to name a few. In this event, we’ll be assessing what the science says about their efficacy, as well as examining what are the up and coming next generation of hero ingredients.

ADVANCES IN FRAGRANCES

From niche products to localised launches, spanning personalised offerings to the mass market, Asia’s fragrance market is a hotbed of innovation. With the help of industry experts, we’ll be analysing how companies are tapping into these trends and its prospects for further innovation.
BEAUTY TECH AND DEVICES
The pandemic may have kicked-off the latest wave of innovation in beauty tech and design, but brands across Asia are continuing to innovate and invest in this space as they seek to enhance consumer experiences both on and offline. In our latest newsletter, we will be speaking to the leading experts on the latest developments and future expectations of the beauty tech space.

GLOBAL COSMETICS SUMMIT

PERSONALISATION AND CUSTOMISATION
The personalisation and customisation trend is in full force in Asia as companies roll-out the next wave of tech, including the ability to analyse skin and hair via video selfies. As the one-size-fits-all approach to beauty risks being consigned to the history books, we will explore personalised beauty innovations with experts in formulation, manufacturing and packaging that are blazing a path in this bespoke space.

HERE FOR THE HAIR: GLOBAL INNOVATIONS AND TRENDS IN HAIR CARE
The hair care market is estimated to hit $99.9 billion globally in 2023, according to Statista. In this newsletter, hear from our CosmeticsDesign Global team on what the hair care market looks like today, from new formulations to innovative brands and consumer trends.

<td>NEW FRONTIERS IN BEAUTY</td>
<td>Beyond the mainstream, a spectrum of specialised niches is flourishing. From taboo beauty to ‘ugly’ beauty, brands are carving their unique path in the cosmetics industry. Their consumers are those looking for solutions that stretch beyond ageing or acne. Instead, they are seeking expert help on areas such as intimate feminine care or melanin-rich skin care solutions. This unexplored future landscape represents opportunities to meet the less-talked-about needs and concerns of the modern beauty consumer – ultimately creating new categories in beauty. In this webinar join us and our industry experts as we explore the new frontiers in beauty and discover how cosmetic innovation can meet previously unforeseen needs and desires.</td>

FRAGRANCES
The fragrance sector in Asia continues to surge forward, buoyed by the enthusiastic engagement of younger consumers and the prevailing emphasis on wellness and self-care. We will examine how companies are harnessing these trends and explore the potential for continued innovation in this dynamic market.

HALAL COSMETICS
In this special edition, we’ll be talking to the APAC players at the forefront of the growth in the halal beauty sector and shining the spotlight on opportunities for future market expansion across ingredients and finished products, especially as incomes continue to rise in nation’s with large Muslim populations.

SELF-CARE AND WELLNESS
Beauty has now become inseparable from the concepts of self-care and wellness. The possibilities in this sector are boundless, fuelled by a growing enthusiasm among individuals who are making their health and well-being a top priority. We will investigate how the cosmetics industry is capitalising on this opportunity and delve into the possibilities for ongoing innovation in this dynamic market.

HAIR AND SCALP CARE
The hair and scalp care category in Asia is experiencing remarkable growth, driven by a surge in hair ‘skinification’. From new formulations to innovative brands and consumer trends, we will analyse how companies are capitalising on these trends. We will also investigate the possibilities for ongoing innovation in this vibrant market.
UPCYCLED BEAUTY
The concept of upcycling within the beauty industry is gaining significant traction, propelled by both environmental consciousness and consumers seeking sustainable yet natural options. In this edition, we delve into how companies are embracing this trend and explore the potential for further innovation in this exciting space.

CLEANICAL BEAUTY
The heightened consumer awareness for health, safety and efficacy has created the demand for ‘cleanical’ beauty – cosmetic products that focus on clinical efficacy and clean formulations. This growing trend reflects consumers’ increasing desire for high-performing products that are also safe and ethical. More than ever, beauty brands must develop products backed by real scientific research while also adhering to principles of clean beauty such as ingredient transparency and eco-awareness. In this webinar, join us and our industry experts as we unravel this prominent trend from multiple angles, including ingredient sourcing, formulation, sustainable packaging, and ethical practices.

PERSONALISATION, CUSTOMERISATIONS AND BEAUTY TECH
The need for tailored experiences and the integration of technology reflects the evolving preferences and expectations of modern consumers. As technology continues to advance, the beauty industry is poised for further innovation in personalisation, customisation, and beauty tech to meet these demands. We will delve into how companies are leveraging these trends and explore the potential for further innovation in beauty.
